NUMB. 126.

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Saturday, JUNE 19, to Saturday, JUNE 26, 1736.

Frederica in Georgia, May 10, 1736.

ON ſeveral Complaints from the Spaniards, Mr. Ogletborpe ask'd the Chief of the Creek Indians who lately came hither from the Nation, whether they were true, and (if ſo) why they had fallen upon them? The Indians anſwered, that two Hunting Seaſons ago, they being in full Peace as they thought with the Spaniards & ſuſpecting nothing, a Detachment of Men ſent out by the Governor of Auguſtine, fell upon 3 of their Families in the night, and firing in upon them, kill'd ſome, and wounded and took both Men, Women and Children, and moſt barbarouſly murder'd their Priſoners: That in the beginning of the Winter Hunt, which was about November laſt, ſome Parties of the Creeks went out to take Revenge, and one of thoſe Parties conſiſting of 5 Men had taken a Spaniſh Fort, call'd Picolata, within 7 Leagues of Auguſtine, towards the Apolachees, where they killed one Spaniard who reſiſted, but the others made their Eſcape.

Mr. Ogletborpe acquainted them, that he had ſent Boats to lye in St. Juan's River, to adviſe thoſe of their Nation not to paſs it, and to hinder the Spaniards coming over to hurt them: They told him not to truſt the Spaniards, and deſir'd him to aſſiſt them in obtaining Revenge, for that they were under the Protection of the Crown of England, and that the Engliſhmen ought to help them. That if the Spaniards would make Reſtitution for the Indians they had kill'd, they would, if Mr. Ogletborpe deſir'd it, when the Nation met at the next Buſk, make Propoſals to them concerning a Peace with the Spaniards; but there were ſeveral Parties now out, and they could not tell where to find them, but that moſt of them were in the Apulachee old Fields, to prevent the Spaniards finiſhing the Fort they had begun on thoſe Lands about a Year ago without their Leave.

On Saturday May 1, arrived Capt. Ferguſon with the Carolina Scout Boat, with an Account that Major Richards and Mr. Horton, who carried anſwers to the Spaniſh Governor's Letters, had landed at their Look-out, and he believed were made Priſoners by the Spaniards, for they had heard no more of them, excepting by a blind Letter wrote with a pencil and brought by a Spaniard, that the Boat and Men under the Command of Capt. Hermsdorf had left Point St. George, that the Men were mutinous, and he was apprehenſive they would either murder their Officers and turn Pirates, or be taken Priſoners by the Spaniards.

Mr. Ogletborpe on Sunday morning went on board the Man of War, and proceeded with the Georgia Scout-Boat and the Man of War's Boat in Company, under the command of the Lieutenant, they arrived that night at Fort St. Andrews: On Monday morning they came up with the South Point of Cumberland, where they met with the Boats under the Command of Capt. Hermsdorf: Mr. Ogletborpe immediately took them out to Sea with him round Amelia Iſland, he found that the Men did not intend to mutiny, and that the ſuſpicion was occaſion'd by the Lies of one Man, who was puniſh'd by running the Gantlet. He went up to St. George's Point within ſight of the Spaniſh Look-out, and ſetled them at the ſame place where Mr. Hermsdorf had taken up his Quarters, it being agreed that the Spaniards at the return of Major Richards ſhould make a ſignal, and from thence he would repair with his Boat to fetch him off; and alſo that from thence the Boats ſhould patroll up and down the Rivers, to prevent the Indians in Alliance with the Engliſh paſſing over to hurt the Spaniards, as they ſhould prevent their Indians paſſing over to moleſt us.

Mr. Ogletborpe went that Afternoon to the Spaniſh Look-out with a Flag of Truce, but not being able to perceive any one, leaving the Boats at a Grapling, he leap'd out to ſee if he could diſcover any Ambuſh, and walk'd along the Sea-Beach at a diſtance from the ſandy Hillocks, to prevent Surpriſe he ſurrounded the Hillocks, where he found 2 Horſes hobled, he went went up to a Palmetto Hutt, but could find no Men, upon this he ſent the Flag of Truce up into a great Savannah, to try if he could draw down any People to a Conference.

The Remaining Part of this Letter in our next.

The SPEECH of the Honourable THOMAS BROUGHTON Eſq; Lieutenant Governor &c. To the Honourable the Commons Houſe in General Aſſembly met June 24, 1736.

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen,

IT has been with great Unwillingneſs, that I have call'd you again together, after ſo long a Seſſion, and ſo ſhort a Receſs; but I have very lately received ſome Letters from the Hon. James Ogletohrpe Eſq; which I have communicated to his Majeſty's Council, and which they have judged to be of ſo great Importance to this Province, that in their Opinion, your Meeting at this time is abſolutely Neceſſary.

As I have taken no Steps on this occaſion, before your Meeting, ſo I ſhall ſay nothing that may anticipate your Deliberations, being well aſſured from the experience I have had of this Aſſembly, that all their Conſultations will tend to promote his Majeſty's Service and the true Intereſt of this Province.

The General Aſſembly have given frequent and convincing Proofs of the Sincerity of their Inclinations, and how earneſtly they have wiſhed to ſee the flouriſhing Condition of the new Settlement of Georgia, and eſteeming their Intereſt inſeparable, they have by a Conjunction of Councils, with thoſe concern'd in the Care of that Colony, endeavoured to the utmoſt of their Power, to promote her Welfare.

Convinc'd of theſe Truths I perſuade my ſelf, that I need not preſs you at this Juncture, to give freſh Inſtances of your deſire to promote and preſerve a good underſtanding between the two Colonies, nor have I any Reaſon to doubt of your Firmneſs in purſuing ſuch prudent and effectual Meaſures as may maintain and ſecure the juſt Rights and Intereſt of the People you repreſent.

In every thing that is conſiſtent with my Duty to his Majeſty, and which will contribute to obtain theſe deſirable Ends, you may be aſſured Gentlemen, you ſhall meet with my ready and hearty Concurrence.

To the Hon. THOMAS BROUGHTON Eſq; Lieutenant Governor, Captain General and Commander in Chief in and over His Majeſty's Province of South-Carolina.

May it pleaſe your Honour,

WE his Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects the Commons of this his Province met in General Aſſembly, take leave to return your Honour our hearty Thanks for your kind Speech of this Day, and for that Regard therein expreſs'd to the Welfare and Intereſt of this Province.

We at the ſame time aſſure your Honour, that when you ſhall be pleaſed to communicate to this Houſe the Advices you have received from the Honourable James Oglethorpe Eſq; which your Honour with His Majeſty's Honourable Council judge of ſo great Importance to this Province, as to make our Meeting, after ſo long a Seſſion and ſo ſhort a Receſs of the General Aſſembly, abſolutely neceſſary.

We ſhall proceed to give thoſe Affairs the neceſſary Diſpatch, and direct our Conſultations thereon in ſuch a Manner as will beſt evidence our ſincere Regard to His Majeſty's Service and the true Intereſt of this His Province and that of the new Colony of Georgia, and thereby manifeſt our Firmneſs and Reſolution to purſue all ſuch prudent and effectual Meaſures as may beſt maintain and ſecure the juſt Rights and Intereſt of our Conſtituents His Majeſty's good Subjects of this Province, by a faithful and ſteady Diſcharge of the Truſt repoſed in us, in which we are well aſſured, from the Knowleage we have of your Honour's Inclination to promote the Wellfare of this Province, we ſhall meet with your Honour's ready and hearty Concurrence.
